3 TRAIN LOADS OF REFUGEES

Were Probably Dispatched From Mexico City Last Night

VESSEL WILL MEET THEM

At Puerto Mexico and They Will Then Be Brought to Vera Cruz to Join the American Colony, Which is Growing Steadily.

VERA CRUZ, April 29.—Anxiety in Vera Cruz as to friends and relatives in the interior has been greatly relieved by the events of yesterday which show that the Mexican authorities are permitting Americans to come down to the coast.

Today the American colony here, which is growing steadily settled down to await news from Puerto Mexico, of the arrival of three train loads of refugees from Mexico City which the Huerta officials promised Commander Tweedie of the British cruiser Essex would be despatched from the capital last night.

The route from the capital to Puerto Mexico is long and roundabout and it is not expected that the trains will reach the coast before next Friday.

Rear Admiral Badger will have a vessel at Puerto Mexico to meet the refugees. He probably will not send a warship as this might arouse anti-American feeling in a town, which up to the present time has been entirely quiet.

The passenger boats available here for the trip to Puerto Mexico have limited wireless equipment consequently the arrival of the refugee trains, together with the names of those on board, may not be learned until the steamer returns to Vera Cruz. If the refugee trains are filled to capacity, as they probably will be, it is estimated that 800 people will be conveyed to Puerto Mexico.

It is impossible in Vera Cruz to determine how many Americans this would leave in the capital. William W. Canada, the American consul, is endeavoring to obtain information along this line from the Brazilian minister at Mexico City to whom the affairs of the United States were entrusted when Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy left.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy and Arnold Shanklin, the American consul general at Mexico City who came out with him are still here waiting orders. So far as is known they have given no intimation as to their probable instructions from Washington. This is construed here to mean that the state department retains hope of a satisfactory adjustment of the present difficulty which would make it possible for these officials to return to the United States now might be expedient.

The release of General Gustavo Maas, the federal commander outside of Vera Cruz, of the hundred refugees who were brought in from Soledad yesterday by Commander Tweedie, clears the territory between Vera Cruz and Mexico City on the direct line of communications, of all Americans with the exception of a few scattered families whose whereabouts are not known. Some may have made their way to the capital; others to coast ports, and some are supposed to be in hiding with friendly Mexican ranchers.

Consul Canada has been unable to communicate directly with the American refugees and he is urging the Brazilian minister at Mexico City to make inquiries regarding them through channels controlled by President Huerta. Consul Canada is covered with cablesgrams inquiring for the safety of this or that person. As far as the lists containing the names of those who reach the coast and start for Galveston are received they are relayed to the state department at Washington.

The Soledad refugees are enthusiastic in praise for Commander Tweedie whose determined stand, they believe alone saved them from probable death or at least prolonged suffering. On being released from the penitentiary at Soledad where they had been confined as a protection against the mob, the refugees (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.)

ARMISTICE ASKED FOR BY ENVOYS

Sec. Bryan and Gen. Huerta Notified By Ambassador Dagama

MAY SUSPEND ACTION

Along Military Lines While Negotiations are Pending—Envoys are Now in Session—Pres. Wilson Notified of Armistice Request.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—An armistice in the difficulties between the United States and Mexico has been asked of this government and General Huerta by the South American envoys who have undertaken to avert war through mediation. Ambassador Dagama of Brazil today notified Secretary Bryan that this had been determined upon as the next step in the negotiations and that General Huerta also had been notified.

The Brazilian ambassador, Mr. Dagama, today presented to Secretary of State Bryan a dispatch from the Brazilian legation at Mexico City dealing with the mediation negotiations. The ambassador would only say that the note dealt with General Huerta's attitude toward "terms of presentation" of mediation proposals.

In the absence of authoritative information from the mediators conjecture took a wide range as to the various plans they are likely to consider. One of these was that at the outset both sides might be asked to temporarily suspend aggressive military action while the mediation proceedings were going on. While this would not suspend ordinary military or naval preparations, yet, it would hold in abeyance any decisive forward movement pending the efforts toward mediation. While the envoys would make no comment upon this report, it was regarded as a reasonable preliminary step and one which probably would receive their attention. The report also persisted that one of the proposals likely to be considered was for a provisional commission form of government in Mexico but this also the envoys treated as one of the many conjectural ideas being advanced in their study of the entire field.

As a result of the conferences held by two of the envoys, Ministers Naon and Suarez with Secretary Bryan last night there is little doubt the mediators understand pretty clearly the tentative viewpoint of the United States. But, it is understood that their side has yet submitted no written or final statement of what they would, or would not, accede to, the way being left clear to canvass each side and seek gradually to bring them nearer together rather than to develop definite points of disagreement.

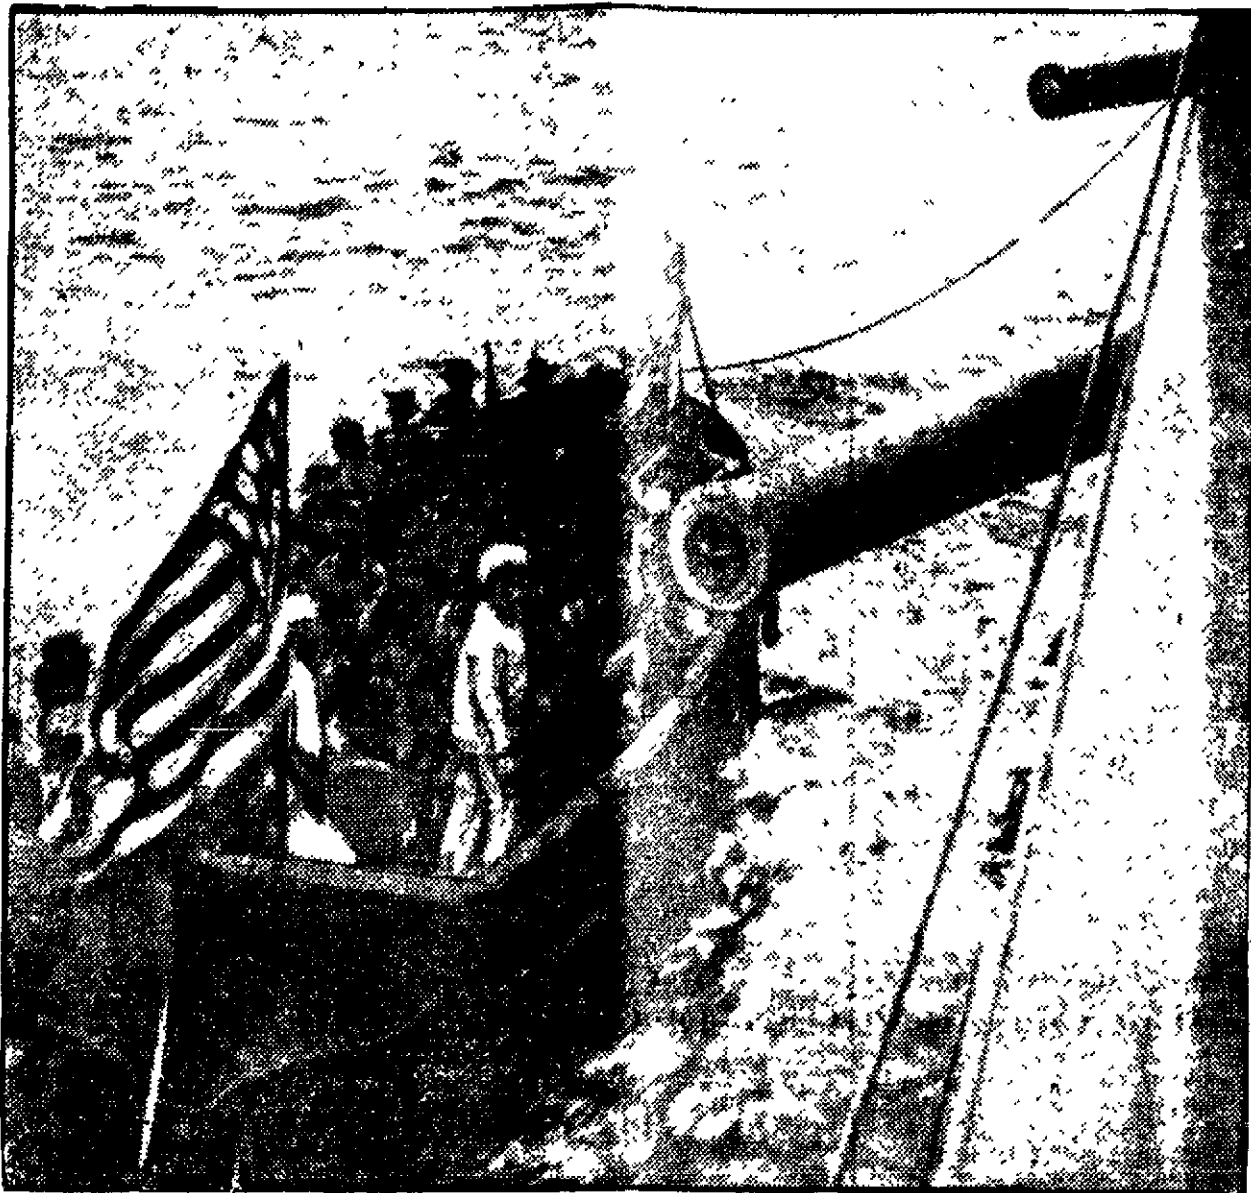

After an hour's conference today the mediation envoys, Mr. Dagama, Mr. Naon of Argentina and Mr. Suarez of Chile, determined that further negotiations necessarily must proceed without warlike interference and Ambassador Dagama went to the state department to acquaint Secretary of State Bryan of the course thus far taken in the peace plans. The Brazilian minister in Mexico City, also was notified and he communicated the information to General Huerta.

The communication addressed to both governments by the mediation envoys formally requests each government to declare an armistice. It was pointed out by officials here that, in all probability, the United States would accept the proposal, notwithstanding the fact that this government has not recognized that a state of war in Mexico exists, in so far as the operations of the United States are concerned.

Despite this fact it was believed that the Washington government would not put any barriers in the path of progress of mediation, particularly at such an early stage of the negotiations. Officials here also believed that General Huerta would accept the first proposal.

The proposal for an armistice, it was learned, does not include any (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4.)

Nearly All American Residents Have Left Tampico; City Quiet

TAMPICO, April 28, (Via Vera Cruz.) April 29.—The American exodus from Tampico which began Wednesday, April 22, virtually reached its end today with the departure for Vera Cruz of about sixty American refugees on board the tank steamer Canfield. The total number of refugees sent from here to American ports since the movement began is officially given at 2,270.

There are a number of Americans still at Tampico. These number a score or more. They have all lived here for many years and are highly thought of by the Mexican population, among whom they have many friends. They are today sheltered in the homes of Mexican friends living along the Panuco river and are in little danger.

No credible reports have reached here of any damage to the oil wells, tanks and pipe lines in the Tampico and Panuco region, but the Corona and other great wells in the Panuco district are overflowing. Many thousands of barrels of oil are being lost daily because no effective way of stopping the flow has been found. Oil experts predict that within a week or ten days the retaining reservoirs will overflow. As a result a deluge of oil will be precipitated into the river and should this catch on fire Tampico at the mouth of the river will be threatened with destruction.

There was almost a condition of panic among the Americans last Wednesday when without an hour's warning the little squadron of American vessels under Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo steamed down the Panuco river, leaving more than 2,000 Americans defenseless in Tampico. Since this time however, all those who wanted to leave have been given the opportunity to do so. In addition to the long time residents of the city there are still a few Americans in the district back of the river, who absolutely refuse to come out.

From the beginning, Captain Doughty of the British cruiser Hermione has been indelicate in his efforts to warn Americans wherever he could reach them that they should leave the district. Patrol boats of the Hermione have thoroughly explored the Tamiahua lagoon and according to reports made to the British commander the American settlements along the lagoon are deserted.

The temper of the Mexican population toward the Americans during the exodus was not nearly so violent as might have been expected. No attempts were made to molest Americans. Some exaltado Mexicans insulted them but none was molested. The mob vented its energy in waving Mexican flags, shooting off pistols breaking a few windows and shouting "Viva Mexico."

The Americans who left Tampico Sunday were quartered aboard the cruiser Des Moines, where they remained until they were transferred to the Canfield, which is now taking them to Galveston.

The steamer Montevideo, flying the Spanish naval ensign and in charge of officers and men from the Spanish cruiser Carlos V., arrived at the port Sunday to take on British subjects. She left today for Vera Cruz with 150 refugees, including four Americans.

foreign merchant vessels are still in the river.

While there is good reason to believe that the rebels investing Tampico will reject any proposal to ally themselves with the federals for the purpose of resisting any possible American aggression, there is some uncertainty as to what course the federals would pursue in such an eventuality. General Zaragoza, the federal commander, has made public announcement of his determination to defend Tampico to the last. On the other hand he is reported to have said to a friend last Friday that opposition to American advance would be quite hopeless and that he would only make a feeble show of defense sufficient to satisfy the demands of honor and then evacuate the city.

General Zaragoza's forces is not believed to exceed 1,000 men. Considering the federal situation from the standpoint of rebel attack all indications point to their ability to defend Tampico indefinitely. The federals are well supplied with artillery of which the rebels have none. The rebel attacks hitherto have never been successfully directed and they have always been futile.

The sanitary conditions at Tampico are bad. The water supply is scant and in a large measure polluted.

Italy has now been officially informed that the cost of the war with Turkey for the possession of Tripoli was $191,000,000.

FOUR DEAD IN FIRE IN OREGON; MAY BE OTHERS

PORTLAND, Ore., April 29.—At least four persons lost their lives in a fire which started early today in a thickly settled residence block on the east side of the river here. A number of others were painfully burned, but it is believed all these will recover.

NOBLE AND CREW OF 20 ARE LOST

DULUTH, Minn., April 29.—Reports from the life saving crew at the head of the lakes make it practically certain that the steamer Benjamin Noble with her officers and a crew of 20 men were sunk off Minnesota point, in a violent storm early today. Life belts, hatches, spars, oars and other wreckage were picked up this morning. Efforts are being made to locate the vessel. Great anxiety is felt here for five vessels headed for this port. All of them were overdue yesterday. These are the William H. Truesdale, Willis King, F. T. Heffelfinger, Sheldon Parks and David Z. Norton. No word has been received of these vessels, although diligent search by wireless has been made for them.

The Noble was a freight vessel owned by the Capital Transportation company of Detroit.

This afternoon tug captains looking for the wreck, located the cabin of the Noble on a sand reef near Minnesota Point. They believe this makes it certain that the crew was lost. No bodies have come ashore.

WOULD HAVE TRUTH KNOWN AT CAPITAL

VERA CRUZ, April 29.—The blue-jacketed patrols have been careful in dealing with the natives to use no unnecessary harshness and the result is evidenced by the call yesterday of Spanish business men on the Spanish consul asking that the Spanish minister in Mexico City seek to induce General Huerta to have the truth as to conditions here published in the capital.

The Spaniards are particularly provoked by the report in Mexico City papers that the Spanish cruiser Carlos V. had been sunk in the harbor here by the American ships. They believe the result of such misrepresentation and wild untruths for all foreigners.

Rear Admiral Fletcher and his staff have impressed on all departing Mexican refugees the friendly intentions of the United States and their desire that the full truth of all that has happened here is being published in the United States. The hope that the full truth will stop when the truth becomes known.

RESCUE PARTY HEARS SOUNDS OF DIGGING BEYOND THE DEBRIS

Number of Imprisoned Miners at Eccles, W. Va., May Still Be Alive and Fresh Miners Work With Renewed Vigor to Clear Away The Fallen Rock

GOV. HATFIELD HEADS PARTY OF ENGINEERS

Attempted to Enter Passage But Were Driven Back By Obstructions—Crew of Rescue Car and Experienced Miners From Surrounding Country Engaged by Government Engineers are Working Heroically in Attempt to Clear Way to the Buried Men—Twenty-five Physicians on the Scene and Carload of Coffins Have Arrived.

ECCLES, W. Va., April 29.—Hope that some of the 178 miners imprisoned in mine No. 5 of the New River collieries company, wrecked with mine No. 6, by an explosion yesterday might still be alive stirred the throng on the mountain side shortly before noon. A rescue party driven out of No. 6 reported today that they heard sounds of digging beyond the barriers of debris choking the connecting entry. A party of fresh miners were hurried into the entry and attacked the fallen mass of rock with renewed vigor.

Earlier in the day Governor Hatfield and Chief Inspector Earl Henry headed a party of mining engineers and superintendents in an effort to enter No. 5. They were compelled to give up the attempt because of obstructions. The crew from rescue car No. 7 of the bureau of mines has been steadily at work since its arrival, and many experienced miners from the surrounding country have been organized by the government engineers so that the work of clearing a way to the buried men may proceed with the least possible interruption.

Twenty-five doctors arrived here and a carload of coffins came today. A great crowd has collected on the mountain, silently waiting until the galleries of No. 5 are unsealed and their tragic story told. The entrances to the mines are far apart but the workings join underground. When the dust exploded in Mine No. 5, the fumes entered No. 6 shaft and there the eleven unknown dead were killed. Prompt measures taken by Superintendent Thomas Donaldson resulted in the rescue of 61 from No. 6 shaft. Many of those rescued are burned severely and improvised hospitals here and at Beckley are crowded.

When it was found shaft No. 5, was burning the entrance was closed and the entrances to No. 6 workings were barricaded. The task of finding the bodies in No. 5 shaft must wait until the flames have been extinguished. General Manager Bayles at midnight said he believed the 190 men to be in No. 5 were dead. This belief is also accepted by mining experts who rushed here last night and by the relatives of the entombed men. It is not believed one man in No. 5 escaped alive as the sudden explosion was followed quickly by outburst of flames.

Most of the miners are American born although there are quite a number of foreign born workers. Of the bodies recovered eight were white Americans, one negro and two foreign born.

The explosion was terrific. A rumbling noise was heard through the town and as residents rushed to the entrances of the mines, timbers, pieces of cars and other debris shot from the mouth of No. 5 shaft. Many of those rescued say they were overcome by the gas fumes before they knew what had happened. The first man to leave the mine shafts climbed to the surface of No. 6 hard over hand on a rope.

Two car loads of coffins ordered last night from Cincinnati are expected here during the day. Chief Henry made a trip into the No. 6 workings after midnight this morning and found much debris. Efforts will be made to effect an entrance to No. 5 shaft today.

Still Fighting In the Colorado Strike Zone; Federal Troops Arrive

FORBES, Colo., April 29. (By Courier to Trinidad.)—Seven men lie dead in the Forbes camp of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company. Most of the mine buildings are in ashes. Mine defenders are missing but are believed to have reached the Majestic Mine, three strikers are thought to have been killed in the latest outbreak in the Colorado labor war.

Strikers estimated to number 200 attacked the property shortly after 6 o'clock today. There was a battle lasting several hours, after which the strikers disappeared in the hills. The known dead: S. A. Newman.

Jack Smith. Ed Kessler and four Japanese, all defenders of the mine. The strikers set fire to the mine workings and several horses were shot or burned.

The buildings destroyed include the mine office, with the United States postoffice, the temple, engine house, boarding house barn and several homes of the miners. George Albert wife and baby were taken prisoners by the strikers, but released and made their way to a ranch house. Six guards were captured, but released after being taken some distance over the hills.

Violence in the strike zone of Colorado came to an end shortly after midnight when a downpour of rain drove away the striking miners who were attacking the Walden mine near Aftonburg. The only point in Colorado where actual violence obtained today dawned with the prospects of indefinite peace between the warring industrial factions. Federal troops from Fort D. A. Russell, Cheyenne, Wyoming, arrived in Colorado early today and troops from Fort Leavenworth, Kan., were expected to reach the state before (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.)

Best of the Season

Here's the best joke of the season. The laugh is on the other fellow, of course, but the Advocate's contest editor could scarcely get his breath today for laughing. The victims of the joke will not be able to see the funny part of it all. The contest editor almost had to be held while he was interviewed. When finally he was able to tell about it he explained that he was laughing to think how funny it would be to see how many people would say "Pshaw, I could have won one of those prizes just as easily as rolling off a log if I had entered the contest." He said he had heard such talk before after the prizes were awarded. It's easy enough to tell how it could have been done after the contest is over, and it's the people who didn't enter the contest while they had a chance who are the most apt to tell how easily they could have won. It's usually the people who think they know, who really don't know when the show-down comes. Still there's time. The last picture will be published Friday. The Advocate has coupons and Catalogues. Two cents for the coupons and 25 cents for the catalogue starts you for a winner.

Clip out your coupons neatly, and fill them out clearly and plainly, remembering that in the event of a tie for any prize between two or more contestants, neatness and clear writing will win the judges' favor. The picture is to be a part of the coupon. Do not detach the coupon from the picture.

Send no answers whatever to the Advocate until the contest is ended by the publication of Picture No. 70. Any answers received before that time will be destroyed and will not be counted. Read the rules carefully.

Rules of the Booklovers' Contest.

Any person may compete in this contest who lives either in Licking, Delaware, Knox, Coshocton, Muskingum, Perry, Fairfield or Franklin counties, Ohio, except employees of the Advocate or members of their families.

Answers to the picture must be written upon the coupon blank which will be printed every day with each picture during the seven-day publication days the contest will last. Both picture and blank must be clipped from the paper, and the blank properly filled in with the name of book and the author's name together with the name and address of the contestant written clearly and plainly in the space provided. Not more than one person's name may be written on any coupon.

Each picture will represent the title of only one book, but there may be some pictures that suggest the title of several books. For the benefit of contestants, and to allow for this variety of solution, any contestant may give as many as five answers to any picture, at will, but not more than one solution may be written on any coupon. If the contestant gives two answers as likely to include the correct one, two coupons must be used; if three answers, three coupons, and so on.

In each instance, whether the contestant gives one answer or five answers to any picture, both the picture and coupon must be used for each of the answers; and not more than five answers to any picture will be permitted.

If any one of the five answers that may be given to any picture is correct, the contestant will be credited for the correct solution and will have the incorrect ones counted against his or her chances.

Prizes will be awarded to every contestant, by the Contest Judges, who sends in the largest number of correct answers upon the smallest number of coupons. Thus, if a contestant gives the correct answers to 70 of the pictures and uses only 70 coupons, that contestant will rate higher in the prize awards than one who uses 140 coupons or any higher number up to 350 for supplying the 70 correct answers.

If two or more persons, supplying the same number of correct answers, have used the same number of coupons for their answers, the highest rating will be given to the one whose answers are most neatly prepared, in the opinion of the judges.

No contestant will be allowed to submit more than one set of answers, which must include not less than 70 or more than 350 coupons, with accompanying pictures.

Positively no solution may be sent in to the Contest Editor until every one of the seventy pictures has been printed. Answers in complete sets, as just specified above, will then be received in this office, and should be addressed to "Contest Editor," Booklovers' Contest, Advocate, Newark, Ohio. The awards will be made strictly according to the correctness of each set of answers, and the correctness shall be determined by the Finding List, the catalogue issued by the governing the Booklovers' Contest. This catalogue can be obtained from the Advocate office for 25c (27 cents if by mail), and will include in its 5000 titles every one used in the contest. Awards will be announced in this newspaper after the close of the contest.

It is not absolutely necessary to send in solutions on blanks clipped from the Advocate, as duplicate pictures may be drawn by the contestant, if he or she so desires, or duplicate blanks may be obtained at the office of the Newark (Ohio) Advocate.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before Breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid on stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, set from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can imagine feeling any time.

3 TRAIN LOADS

were taken to the railroad track and handed over to the Mexican major who had no instructions as to what to do with them. A train bound for Mexico City passed by they were not permitted to board it.

After waiting hours in the blazing sun, Commander Tweedie's train steamed into sight, bound for Vera Cruz. Several refugees approached the British officer and told of their plight.

"You need not worry," Commander Tweedie answered. "This train will not leave without you."

Commander Tweedie calmly insisted to the Mexican officer that he be permitted to take the Americans with him to Vera Cruz, and he refused to listen to the officers' protest that he had no authority in the matter. The federal officer finally capitulated and hastened back to headquarters for instructions, returning in an hour with permission for the tired, hungry and nervous Americans to depart. The refugees told also of the gallant conduct of the Mexican military commander at Soledad and of the mayor, who made every effort to protect the refugees from the mobs in the street. On the night when the situation was especially serious the mayor made an address to the citizens urging them to be calm. The most effective work, however, was done by the commandant, who seized several hundred of the most ardent rioters, pressed them into the army and sent them away to the capital to fill the ranks of the Mexican army. The refugees said that only the lower element was involved in the rioting.

No American troops were landed from the transports here during the night. The transport Moro Castle with 900 marines aboard arrived here this morning.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

VERA CRUZ, April 29.—Commander Tweedie of the British cruiser Essex who went to Mexico City several days ago to intercede for foreigners held in the capital, returned here late yesterday and reported that his mission had been successful.

President Huerta, Minister of War Blanquet and Foreign Minister Rojas assured Commander Tweedie they would release all American prisoners and that all Americans desiring to do so might leave via Puerto Mexico, but that the trains on which they would go would not be provided with escorts.

The train on which Commander Tweedie returned to Vera Cruz picked up one hundred American refugees from various interior points who were assembled at Soledad.

These refugees, who came from Tierra Blanca, Cordoba and Orizaba, presented a pitiable spectacle and were worn, dirty, and tired from their frightful experiences. Women with babes in their arms and young girls lugging heavy bundles, containing all that remained of their possessions, trudged with other refugees from the station here in charge of agents from the American consulate. Many of the refugees are destitute and these were loaded aboard the rescue steamers last night.

General Huerta declared there was no reason for placing an escort on the refugee trains, and anyway he did not care to assume responsibility of the safety of passengers.

Sixty-three members of the Medina colony in the state of Oaxaca were among the refugees who arrived here. They were held two days in Cordoba and reported they were well treated, except that they were obliged to sleep on the floors of the barracks. They were relieved of their guns, but not of the scanty belongings which they were able to bring with them.

J. W. Elliott, a locomotive engineer, was in Tierra Blanca when news of the occupation of Vera Cruz reached him. With his wife and children he started for Cordoba under guard of Mexican soldiers. At Cordoba the guards said that they were hungry and demanded fifty pesos on the threat to surrender Elliott and his family to a howling mob which surrounded the station and filled the streets.

The money was paid and Elliott and his family were marched more than a mile through the streets to the barracks, hounded all the way by the mob. They were kept in the barracks six days during the first two of which crowds surrounded the place demanding their lives. On two occasions into the barracks and except for the efforts of the colonel and two other officers Elliott and his family would undoubtedly have been killed. Toward the end of their stay the demonstrations ceased to a large extent.

Manager Boyd of the Motorzonglo hacienda, when he arrived at Cordoba, was forced by the federal guard to pay $1,500 pesos for protection on through the streets to the jail. Circulars containing words "kill the gringos" and urging the people to rise and massacre the prisoners were posted about Cordoba. The circulars also declared that the Americans were murdering women and children.

The total number of Americans who had been imprisoned in Cordoba and who were brought here yesterday was 115. Among them were those who earlier yesterday had been reported as dead.

From Mexico City comes the report that one American was killed in front of the Hotel Ideal by a mob a few days ago. His name is not known here.

P. W. Lehmer, a ranch manager from Tuxtepec, whose home is in Omaha, and who was on his way to Vera Cruz for a visit, not knowing of the developments here, was picked up at Tierra Blanca by federal soldiers.

"I was placed with ten others in a train which was left standing over night surrounded by a mob which continually threatened to attack us," he said. "The guards ate up everything available on the train, compelling us to go hungry. At every station, similar crowds looted the train and threatened us. While being taken through the streets of Cordoba a squad of young volunteers who had just been presented with a flag, swept down upon us and tried to run us down. This happened at the corner where the Municipal Palace is located or otherwise we would not have escaped as well as we did. As it was I was hit on the head with a flagstaff and a man walking beside me was struck on the head with a rock. His scalp was badly cut.

"It was due to the conduct of the Mexican colonel that we ever reached the palace. We rushed from the door with a squad of police and soldiers and plunked into the crowd, scattering them and surrounding us."

"Once in the palace we were lodged upstairs in front of the Police's office but all night a mob continued to yell in the streets and several times we thought they would break in and try to get us. This mob and his men stood by us throughout the night, with guns ready for business."

"Later, we were put in the penthouse, which is in the same building, and for six days we were on the stone flagging. There were two women in the party, one with a little baby. We were allowed to send out and buy blankets and manage to get enough to eat, such as it was."

"Monday we were loaded on a train and brought down to Soledad. We spent that night on the tracks. There was one passenger left for us and in this, the women and children, the rest of us sleeping on the ground."

"About 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, Tweedie's train arrived. The officers were not going to let us board it, but Tweedie refused to let the train go without us. When we started at the break in the tracks there were bunches of Mexican soldiers lying in the bushes and they continually would have finished us but for Tweedie and the protection of the British flag, which was carried ahead of us."

light. The soldiers from Wyoming went to Canon City to take charge of the situation, and the troops from Kansas probably will go to Trinidad.

The situation in the northern district became quiet yesterday when the strikers ran out of ammunition and their supply could not be replenished, and upon the arrival of the troops there.

In official circles here and among the union leaders, there was expressions of confidence in the federal troops to control the situation. Governor Ammons, reiterated his determination not to withdraw any of the state troops from localities which will not be amply protected by the federal soldiers.

President Wilson's proclamation issued yesterday by virtue of which the federal troops were ordered into Colorado, gives the strikers "gunmen" and others until tomorrow to return to their various abodes peacefully and to cease all acts of lawlessness from that moment until further order comes from the President of the United States all violators of law and order must answer to the federal government.

"In Trinidad" the situation today was quiet.

In the northern section of the state, the strikers do not know whether to expect the federal troops, and the fact that they are to be held in check by the state troops for an indefinite period gave rise today to much anxiety lest another outbreak occur there at any time.

'DEMONSTRATION' BEFORE OFFICES OF ROCKEFELLER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

New York, April 29.—Upton Sinclair, his wife and three women were arrested today after a demonstration in front of the offices of John D. Rockefeller Jr., in the Standard Oil building.

The had come to protest against the Colorado strike.

A woman who said she was a socialist invaded the outer offices of John D. Rockefeller Jr., in the Standard Oil building today and sought interview with reference to the coal miners' strike in Colorado. Mr. Rockefeller's secretary told her that he was busy at a conference.

The woman carried an American flag into the office and described herself as Mrs. Belle N. Zilverman. She was joined on the sidewalk by Upton Sinclair, who wore a bit of rope on his arm in pursuance of a plan announced at a Socialist mass meeting last night where it was rumored that "burners" should gather in front of the Standard Oil Building as a protest against the Colorado strike.

Mrs. Zilverman and Sinclair were the first to arrive on the scene. Mrs. Zilverman carried this message to Rockefeller:

"I am an American citizen, standing at your door with you, my question will be brief and to the point."

The prisoners in the Standard Oil building were taken to the station where Mrs. Zilverman and Sinclair were released. The other women were placed in cells in the court.

were taken to the railroad track and handed over to the Mexican major who had no instructions as to what to do with them. A train bound for Mexico City passed by they were not permitted to board it.

After waiting hours in the blazing sun, Commander Tweedie's train steamed into sight, bound for Vera Cruz. Several refugees approached the British officer and told of their plight.

"You need not worry," Commander Tweedie answered. "This train will not leave without you."

Commander Tweedie calmly insisted to the Mexican officer that he be permitted to take the Americans with him to Vera Cruz, and he refused to listen to the officers' protest that he had no authority in the matter. The federal officer finally capitulated and hastened back to headquarters for instructions, returning in an hour with permission for the tired, hungry and nervous Americans to depart. The refugees told also of the gallant conduct of the Mexican military commander at Soledad and of the mayor, who made every effort to protect the refugees from the mobs in the street. On the night when the situation was especially serious the mayor made an address to the citizens urging them to be calm. The most effective work, however, was done by the commandant, who seized several hundred of the most ardent rioters, pressed them into the army and sent them away to the capital to fill the ranks of the Mexican army. The refugees said that only the lower element was involved in the rioting.

No American troops were landed from the transports here during the night. The transport Moro Castle with 900 marines aboard arrived here this morning.

VERA CRUZ, April 29.—Commander Tweedie of the British cruiser Essex who went to Mexico City several days ago to intercede for foreigners held in the capital, returned here late yesterday and reported that his mission had been successful.

President Huerta, Minister of War Blanquet and Foreign Minister Rojas assured Commander Tweedie they would release all American prisoners and that all Americans desiring to do so might leave via Puerto Mexico, but that the trains on which they would go would not be provided with escorts.

The train on which Commander Tweedie returned to Vera Cruz picked up one hundred American refugees from various interior points who were assembled at Soledad.

These refugees, who came from Tierra Blanca, Cordoba and Orizaba, presented a pitiable spectacle and were worn, dirty, and tired from their frightful experiences. Women with babes in their arms and young girls lugging heavy bundles, containing all that remained of their possessions, trudged with other refugees from the station here in charge of agents from the American consulate. Many of the refugees are destitute and these were loaded aboard the rescue steamers last night.

General Huerta declared there was no reason for placing an escort on the refugee trains, and anyway he did not care to assume responsibility of the safety of passengers.

Sixty-three members of the Medina colony in the state of Oaxaca were among the refugees who arrived here. They were held two days in Cordoba and reported they were well treated, except that they were obliged to sleep on the floors of the barracks. They were relieved of their guns, but not of the scanty belongings which they were able to bring with them.

J. W. Elliott, a locomotive engineer, was in Tierra Blanca when news of the occupation of Vera Cruz reached him. With his wife and children he started for Cordoba under guard of Mexican soldiers. At Cordoba the guards said that they were hungry and demanded fifty pesos on the threat to surrender Elliott and his family to a howling mob which surrounded the station and filled the streets.

The money was paid and Elliott and his family were marched more than a mile through the streets to the barracks, hounded all the way by the mob. They were kept in the barracks six days during the first two of which crowds surrounded the place demanding their lives. On two occasions into the barracks and except for the efforts of the colonel and two other officers Elliott and his family would undoubtedly have been killed. Toward the end of their stay the demonstrations ceased to a large extent.

Manager Boyd of the Motorzonglo hacienda, when he arrived at Cordoba, was forced by the federal guard to pay $1,500 pesos for protection on through the streets to the jail. Circulars containing words "kill the gringos" and urging the people to rise and massacre the prisoners were posted about Cordoba. The circulars also declared that the Americans were murdering women and children.

The total number of Americans who had been imprisoned in Cordoba and who were brought here yesterday was 115. Among them were those who earlier yesterday had been reported as dead.

From Mexico City comes the report that one American was killed in front of the Hotel Ideal by a mob a few days ago. His name is not known here.

P. W. Lehmer, a ranch manager from Tuxtepec, whose home is in Omaha, and who was on his way to Vera Cruz for a visit, not knowing of the developments here, was picked up at Tierra Blanca by federal soldiers.

"I was placed with ten others in a train which was left standing over night surrounded by a mob which continually threatened to attack us," he said. "The guards ate up everything available on the train, compelling us to go hungry. At every station, similar crowds looted the train and threatened us. While being taken through the streets of Cordoba a squad of young volunteers who had just been presented with a flag, swept down upon us and tried to run us down. This happened at the corner where the Municipal Palace is located or otherwise we would not have escaped as well as we did. As it was I was hit on the head with a flagstaff and a man walking beside me was struck on the head with a rock. His scalp was badly cut.

"It was due to the conduct of the Mexican colonel that we ever reached the palace. We rushed from the door with a squad of police and soldiers and plunked into the crowd, scattering them and surrounding us."

"Once in the palace we were lodged upstairs in front of the Police's office but all night a mob continued to yell in the streets and several times we thought they would break in and try to get us. This mob and his men stood by us throughout the night, with guns ready for business."

"Later, we were put in the penthouse, which is in the same building, and for six days we were on the stone flagging. There were two women in the party, one with a little baby. We were allowed to send out and buy blankets and manage to get enough to eat, such as it was."

"Monday we were loaded on a train and brought down to Soledad. We spent that night on the tracks. There was one passenger left for us and in this, the women and children, the rest of us sleeping on the ground."

"About 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, Tweedie's train arrived. The officers were not going to let us board it, but Tweedie refused to let the train go without us. When we started at the break in the tracks there were bunches of Mexican soldiers lying in the bushes and they continually would have finished us but for Tweedie and the protection of the British flag, which was carried ahead of us."

light. The soldiers from Wyoming went to Canon City to take charge of the situation, and the troops from Kansas probably will go to Trinidad.

The situation in the northern district became quiet yesterday when the strikers ran out of ammunition and their supply could not be replenished, and upon the arrival of the troops there.

In official circles here and among the union leaders, there was expressions of confidence in the federal troops to control the situation. Governor Ammons, reiterated his determination not to withdraw any of the state troops from localities which will not be amply protected by the federal soldiers.

President Wilson's proclamation issued yesterday by virtue of which the federal troops were ordered into Colorado, gives the strikers "gunmen" and others until tomorrow to return to their various abodes peacefully and to cease all acts of lawlessness from that moment until further order comes from the President of the United States all violators of law and order must answer to the federal government.

"In Trinidad" the situation today was quiet.

In the northern section of the state, the strikers do not know whether to expect the federal troops, and the fact that they are to be held in check by the state troops for an indefinite period gave rise today to much anxiety lest another outbreak occur there at any time.

15 SOUTH THIRD STREET NEWARK, OHIO.

IN AN OLD TIN BUCKET, SHE BROUGHT THE CAUSE OF HER TWELVE YEARS OF SUFFERING

In the residence part of this city lives a lady who has just passed through a remarkable experience. For various reasons she requests that her name not be mentioned in the local papers. She does not like the notoriety it would create. The particulars of the extraordinary case are as follows:

Twelve years ago, while living at Fourteenth and Main streets, she began to complain of stomach troubles. Medicines did not seem to help her, so it was suggested that she changed her residence to a place away from the river, as it was claimed that the impure water from that river caused her troubles. She thereupon went to live with her married daughter at Detroit and there she drank and used nothing but pure lake water. Still she did not improve; she grew worse, her color became sallow, her appetite was changeable, she would be restless at night and nearly always had terrible dreams, her memory seemed to be failing as it was hard for her to recollect dates or names. Although she would not have actual pain in her stomach still she would have a miserable feeling, such as she could not explain. A year ago she came to Newark. She was so discouraged that she had lost all faith in medicines and she took nothing except an occasional cathartic. She read in these columns the case of a local young lady who had expelled a tapeworm after taking Quaker Extract. This case interested her. She called on Gaskins the Quaker Health Teacher at the City drug store and bought a treatment of Quaker Extract, commenced taking it and awaited developments. A little while after she felt a little more sick at the stomach than usual. This worried her and she made up her mind to call on the Health Teacher and tell him that Quaker Extract was making her worse instead of better. However, in an operation of the bowels, she expelled a hideous mass of seemingly living corruption, which proved to be a tapeworm. She immediately hurried and placed the thing in an old bucket and took it to the City drug store. Examination proved to be complete with head, and the lady therefore had the positive assurance that the cause of her 12 years of suffering is now confined in a glass jar and on display at the City drug store, Third and Main street, Newark, Ohio.

If you suffer from rheumatism, catarrh, constipation, kidney, liver, stomach or blood troubles call on Gaskins the Health Teacher at the City Drug Store and let him tell you what Quaker Extract and Oil of Balm will do. He can be seen from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

If you cannot call, order by mail and on receipt of price the remedies will be sent by express.

Quaker Extract $1, three for $2.50, six for $5. Oil of Balm 50 cents.

the United States was against the working man.

All the prisoners were charged with disorderly conduct and in a patrol wagon were taken to the police court.

Mrs. Lietner said she was an artist and that her home was in Georgia.

While her husband was still locked up Mrs. Sinclair returned to the scene of the arrests and began pacing slowly back and forth in front of the big building. She wore a white polo coat, the left sleeve of which bore a stripe of crepe. Half a dozen men sympathizers, all wearing crepe, walked with or near her. Perhaps 200 persons paused to witness the strange sight but for the time being the police made no arrests.

Mr. Rockefeller remained sequestered in his private office on the fourth floor of the building.

Co-operation.

A correspondent writes to ask if there ought not to be a closer co-operation between Newark and the country. He speaks particularly of the constant tendency among people living in cities and towns, to ridicule the dwellers in the rural outskirts as "Reubens."

One of the surest ways to raise a laugh at a theater is to work off a joke on some outlying village. This is symptomatic of a contempt of country life felt by many people living in the larger towns.

The townsman pays his price for this sentiment. He is having today to pay high prices for his meat and his eggs and his corn, simply because there are not enough people engaged in farming. One reason why so few people are farming is that the calling has been discredited. Country people have been held up as a laughing stock in every comic newspaper. The farmers' boys and girls dislike to follow an occupation that is commonly treated as rustic and absurd. Hence many vacant acres, where there should be growing grain and gardens to feed the people.

There ought to be the closest co-operation between every large town and the outlying country. The centers of population should contribute willingly for good schools and good roads for the country. People will not live on the farms willingly unless they have these and other essentials of modern civilization.

On the other hand, the farm people make a mistake to be jealous of or hostile toward their urban neighbors. The nearby town is the sure and profitable market for their products. When they send money away to distant mail order houses they strike a blow at the town that buys their own products. The distant mail order house never uses any of their bacon or grain or vegetables.

Snakes.

These sunny days bring forth the snakes from holes in quarries, cliffs and brakes. The gentle bullsnake, and many other species, sets forth his proper prey to seek, of all good snakes he is the best, with high ambitions in his breast, he is the farmer's true friend, because he daily puts an end to mice and other beasts which prey upon the farmer's crops and hay. He is most happy when he feasts on gophers and such mealy beasts; and, being six or eight feet high, when stood on end, you can't deny that forty bullsnakes on a farm are bound to do the vermin harm. The bullsnake never hurts a thing; he doesn't bite, he doesn't sting, or wrap you in his slimy folds, and squeeze you till he busts all holds. As harmless as a babe of hay, he does his useful work all day, and when at night he goes to rest, he's killed off many a wretched pest. And yet the farmers always take a chance to kill this grand old snake. They'll chase three miles or more to end the chase of their true friend. They'll hobble forth from beds of pain to hack a bullsnake's form in twain, and leave him mangled, torn and raw—which shows there ought to be a law.

"CHANLER RAO CRIMINAL EXPERT."

Chanler Rao, Ned Finley, Mrs. Thornton, Ada Gifford, Dr. Warren Brown, Charles Wallace, Chanler Rao's son, Robert Higgins

CHANLER RAO, though an oriental hypnotist and magician of amazing skill, couldn't hypnotize the pain out of his throat. He was sure enough pain, and all of the magic passes of his hands, all of the mystic incantations of his tongue availed nothing. So he sought out a doctor. He demonstrated to Dr. Brown his magical cunning by invoking a plant from an empty flower pot. The doctor could deny this performance, for he saw the leaves shoot out perfectly clearly, but he was skeptical of the proceeding. When the magician told him the doctor was more at home, a trick extracted a bit of steel, which was announced as having found lodgement there in a sword swallowing feat. This was magic of which Chanler Rao knew nothing, and his amazement and gratitude were overwhelming. Particularly as the doctor refused any payment for his wonderful act that the magician could deny better than anything he had ever seen. He went away puzzled by the white man's power and strange indifference to monetary return for it. After his patient's departure the doctor discovered that the magical plant was artificial, and he enjoyed a good laugh at the power of "magic."

The next day he received a telegram from his sister, Mrs. Thornton down at her country place, where she was entertaining at a weekend party. Implored him to come and help her find the diamond ring she had lost. Hastening to respond to her call, he was just ready to depart when Chanler Rao came in for a threat treatment. The doctor hastily wrote down a prescription on the only stray piece of paper on his desk, and dashed off to catch his train. The stray piece of paper happened to be his sister's telegram, over which Chanler Rao mused then dispatched a message to Dr. Brown telling him that he would come down immediately and find the ring and the thief. The doctor and his sister were amazed, but they agreed to let the man show what he could do.

When Chanler arrived he ordered Dr. Brown to have the police there at 6 o'clock to take the thief. Then he summoned every one, guests and servants, into a group around him, and making mystic passes and chanting weird words. On the tongue of each person he put a small capsule, collected them again and dropped them into a small crucible. When one exploded under the eager fingers around the crucible, the poor man up, jostled the ring out of one of his pockets, and he was led away by the thoughtfully provided policeman.

Dr. Brown was at sea with his skepticism after this. He couldn't fathom this demonstration of magic until he saw Chanler Rao on the train to go back to town the wily old fellow explained his procedure.

Those capsules absorb moisture," said the magician, "but the parched tongue of the guilty person. The dry capsules explode in the crucible, and all that is necessary is to remember to whom it belongs."

"The Atonement."

The power of heredity is developed in far fetched fashion by this film, which depicts the effect of the father's one theft on his daughter years afterward.

Jim Marvin, after a several months' prison term for stealing, went west and lived on a farm a life that he was made sheriff of his town, an honor bringing much pleasure to his wife and daughter. A traveler stopping over one evening, needed his money to the sheriff for safe keeping and Marvin, being a wife and daughter, tucked the roll of bills away in a bureau drawer. That night, after every one had gone to bed, the daughter crept into the room, fascinated by the idea of the money. Unable to resist the temptation, she took it from the drawer and hid it.

The next morning when the stranger came for his money Marvin was unable to find it. Overcome with shame and remorse he yielded up his star of office and submitted to the accusation of stealing. This was too much for Marie, who realized then the enormity of her conduct, and she restored the money, the populace reinstated her father, and peace and happiness again reigned in the community.

"Cupid's Caprice."

Cupid is to blame for all of the trouble in which a nice family becomes involved, and the reputation of a perfectly honest maid is endangered. When the nice family insists upon their daughter loving one man and she really loves another, she is driven to communicate with her chosen youth by indirect means. The two have a secret postoffice in a hollow tree in which they deposit letters, tokens, and finally the engagement ring. Marie, who discovers this trying place and the lovers are quite terrified at her knowledge, so when the letters disappear they immediately think she is to blame.

When a valuable necklace disappears from Marie's room, it seems natural to accuse Marie, and things are becoming very unpleasant for the girl, until one night late, May is seen leaving her room and walking down the hall. She is followed to the hollow tree where the missing necklace is discovered. She proves to be asleep, as a somnambulist creeping over the dangerous ground which now leads to the dangerous discovery. The maid is freed from suspicion and it is discovered that she had been patterning after her mistress in conducting a love note to her own.

reserve fund in a savings bank account, she never listens patiently.

Probably her retort on such occasions is:

"Make more money and then perhaps we can save some."

That is splendid advice, to be sure, but suppose the good husband has about reached the limit of his earning capacity? Suppose he or some other member of the family should have an expensive illness? Do not these possibilities show the folly of putting off all saving until earnings increase, if they ever do increase?

Observation and experience will point unerringly to the conclusion that the desire and the willingness to save something must precede the actual accomplishment of that purpose, be the annual income $500 or $5,000, and that the experience of the person who puts off saving is likely to be that of the procrastinating sinner to whom are addressed the words of the old hymn:

"If you tarry till you're better you'll never come at all."

And besides, what a resource interest adds to income! And how much better and more effectively a man works when his mind is freed from worry over the present and anxiety for the future!

Money saved and put away safely in the bank is a worry-killer and a sleep-dispeller, while commencing to spend, in the long run, brings greater happiness than extravagance ever can.

and wore a hat of white lace. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Anna Dair, who wore a dress of shell pink mesaline and a white lace hat with pink ostrich feathers. Her bouquet was of pink roses. The groom was attended by Mr. Edward Duffey.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Dair home to forty guests. The decorations there were in green and white smilax and white roses being used.

Mr. and Mrs. Duffey left for a wedding trip and will be at home after May 10 at 165 South Pine street. The groom is employed as a machinist at the B. and O. railway company.

The members of the gym class of the Y. W. C. A. entertained with a May party at the association on Tuesday evening. The gymnasium was lighted with Japanese lanterns and garlands, and a profusion of blossoms and spring flowers were used. The hours were devoted to contests and a dainty luncheon was served. About twenty-five girls were present.

Very pleasant were the members of the Thursday Evening Euchre club entertained at the home of Mrs. William Foley in North Fifth street on the club night. At the conclusion of the game the souvenirs were awarded to Miss Helen Brennan and Miss Mayne Heipley. A dinner was served at 6 o'clock before the playing commenced. The guests of the club were Mrs. Clyde Crilly and Miss Emma Kammerer.

LANNING-MCCARRICK.
Mr. Joseph Lanning and Miss Margaret M. McCarrick stole a march on their many friends by eloping themselves to the residence of the Rev. Calvin G. Hazlett Tuesday afternoon where the reverend gentleman joined them in the bonds of holy matrimony. The young couple will not go to housekeeping at once, as Mr. Lanning is under contract to do fancy sign painting in some of the larger cities throughout the country, and his wife will accompany him.

Mrs. Henry Woodbridge is entertaining a few friends at her home in East Main street this afternoon with a thimble party.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rankin was the hostess to the members of the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge club on the club day of this week, entertaining them at the home of Mrs. D. F. Dowden in East Locust street. The favors for the game for the afternoon were awarded to Miss Mary Neal and Mrs. F. M. Black, while Mrs. Howard Jones received the guest trophy. The guests of the club were Mrs. Howard Jones, Mrs. Fred Mosteller, Mrs. Glover and Mrs. John Dean.

A WOMAN'S HEALTH

Every woman's health is peculiarly dependent upon the condition of her blood. How many women suffer with headache, pain in the back, poor appetite, weak digestion, a constant feeling of weariness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, pallor and nervousness? If you have any of these symptoms, do not despair of getting better but begin now, today, to build up your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. See how the nervous energy of the body is restored as the blood becomes pure and red and the entire system is strengthened to meet every demand upon it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are useful for all women but they are particularly valuable to girls of school age who show symptoms of going into a decline, who become pale, nervous and languid. These pills aid in securing perfect development and health by strengthening the system and purifying and building up the blood. Tain blood during the growing years of a girl's life usually means a flat chested and hollow-cheeked womanhood. There can be neither health nor beauty without red blood which gives a richness to the eyes a color to the cheeks and lips.

Obituary

Harry E. Fuller.
Mrs. Josephine Perkins of Columbus, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Kate Wierand of West Church street, received a telegram announcing the death in Winnipeg, Canada, of her son-in-law, Harry E. Fuller, after an illness of several weeks with stomach trouble. Mr. Harry Perkins, who formerly lived in Newark, but is now of Columbus, left Monday for Winnipeg in response to a telegram announcing the serious illness of Mr. Fuller.

The deceased was manager of the Fruit Dispatch company, large distributors of tropical fruits from California, Florida and other points, and was a man possessed of exceptional business equipment. His wife was Miss May B. Perkins, formerly of Newark and has many friends and relatives here. Besides her there are four children left.

Roy Franklin Bowers.

Roy Franklin Bowers, aged 30 years, employed as a moulder at the Wehrle plant, died at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon in his residence, 147 North Williams street. Death was due to tuberculosis, following an illness which was regarded as dangerous for two weeks.

The funeral service will be conducted in the Pine street Christian Union chapel by Rev. M. A. Lamp at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Bessie W. Bowers, and two children, Caroline and Roy, Jr., and his mother, Mrs. Benjamin Bowers, living north of Newark. There is also one living brother, Ralph, of Newark.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the sickness and death of our loving daughter and sister, Olive R. Miner, also for the beautiful flowers from the Newark High School. The Sabbath school class, The Midland Shoe Factory and the friends and neighbors. We also thank Rev. Bowden for his kind and sympathetic words, the Criss Bros. and the Hanover choir for their services rendered. Mother, chants remain closed. 29&1.

THE SICK

Mrs. George Willy, residing near Wilkin's, was removed from her home to the Newark Sanitarium in the Bazler & Bradley ambulance Tuesday afternoon. She was operated upon Tuesday night.

Mrs. C. Whinnery was removed from the City Hospital in the Bazler & Bradley ambulance to her home 94 North Fourth street.

Mrs. Frank Willey of 24 Valandigham street, was taken to her home, Wednesday, in Criss Bros' motor ambulance, from the Newark Sanitarium, where she has been undergoing treatment for some time.

The condition of Mr. Fred Boutch of 157 Jefferson street is very critical.

Winter's Short Days.

If I were to paint the short days of winter I should paint two towering icebergs approaching each other like promontories for morning and evening, with cavernous recesses and a solitary traveler wrapping his cloak about him and bent forward against the driving storm just entering the narrow pass. I would paint the light of a taper at midday seen through a cottage window, half buried in snow and frost. In the foreground should appear the harvest and far in the background through the pass should be seen the sowers in the fields and other evidences of spring. On the right and left of the approaching icebergs the heavens should be shaded off from the light of midday to midnight with its stars, the sun being low in the sky. Henry David Thoreau.

Only a Piker.

Two Pittsburgh men were seated in a dining car the other day, and while they waited for their luncheon to be served one of them said:

"I hear Brown has bought a place up near yours."

"Yes," the other answered.

"What kind of a place is it?"

"Oh, pretty fair. About 3,000 acres."

"Has he been making much money lately?"

"Not that I know of."

"How can he be so poor to have a place of that kind? Is he keeping it up in any kind of shape?"

"Yes, it looks pretty well. I don't know how he does it."

"How much do you suppose Brown's worth?"

"He hasn't much. Maybe about $250,000. Getting along on his nerve, very largely, I guess."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Sunrise in Africa.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainford recently described an African sunrise, as he noted it, in the "Blue Black African" back of Mount Kilimanjaro. He explained how the first blood red shaft of daylight shot over the peak and stained the clouds back of the mountain.

"Impossible as it may seem," he said, "that red stain dripped down and not up and spread toward the horizon. It spread right and left until the mountain, still as blue black as the night, stood out in a dreadful silhouette. Then came the steaming mists of the morning, and at first red and then pink and then silvery and then white they covered the mountain after the dawn and it was as though it had never been. Nowhere but in Africa. No where else."—New York World.

EL PASO FILLED WITH SOLDIERS READY TO ACT

Miss Marian Weiant has just received a letter from her aunt, Mrs. Augustus Thumm, describing conditions on the Mexican border at El Paso, Texas. The letter which was written last Saturday, says in part:

"Everything is calm and even as yet. Wild rumors get the people up excitedly but the next day things are all right. El Paso has been for months quietly planning protection and when word came that perhaps Carranza of the constitutionalists did not agree to the occupation of Vera Cruz by the United States and would join Huerta it was only a short while until things were ready for trouble. Villa (pronounced Veyal) who is Carranza's general-in-chief of the army, is here and has restored the feeling of friendship and safety so all is well now. Artillery is placed at suitable locations and soldiers everywhere but just waiting. We have just heard of Mexicans here in our city on both sides and many who claim allegiance to the United States. That would make the situation serious should anything occur. I really feel that the rebels would not do anything that would cause a rupture with the United States for I think really that is their hope for taking things out of Huerta's hands."

Mrs. Thumm is the wife of the superintendent of motive power, for the Southern Pacific railway at El Paso.

A late report from Consul Canada at Vera Cruz says the refugees arriving from Cordoba told pitiful tales of hardships inflicted upon them during their imprisonment there. After their arrest they were herded together like cattle and marched through the public streets to a small and unsanitary jail. Meanwhile angry mobs on all sides threw decayed fruit, stones and other missiles at them and threatened their lives. Arriving at the jail, they were crowded into small rooms, 40 prisoners being in the same apartment.

Madame Isbell's Beauty Lesson.
LESSON XI—PART I. PHYSICAL CULTURE.

To keep young and attractive looking is the desire of every woman as she approaches middle age. How to be beautiful is the query of every girl nearing womanhood. This passionate desire for physical charm seems inherent in women of all ages and yet, paradoxical as it sounds, comparatively few of them are willing to take the necessary pains, and exercise the healthy self-control, that means physical attractiveness.

The Physique.
While it is beauty of face that generally attracts us, it is the physique that holds the eye. Every woman who is a cripple or deformed has a right to good figure, correct carriage and easy, graceful movements. Unfortunately these qualities are not always given by nature; in most cases work is necessary to acquire and retain them.

I believe everyone after childhood needs some form of physical culture. Children in their play exercise every muscle of their body, but after playtime is passed only certain sets of muscles are used. This is the time when it is necessary to supplement with daily, systematic exercise.

Contrary to general opinion, hard work does not always make a strong, well-developed body. Manual labor may make a stunted body, but it does not develop certain muscles strength, grace or poise. If we are so we should find in farming the most perfect type of physical culture. The farmer is the man who does the greatest amount of physical labor. But the truth is that farm work does not tend to grace or perfect development.

Work on the Farm.
A man that mows or shovels rarely stands straight; every inch that the spine goes into the ground pulls him the further over, and this is true of working in the field and most of the small tasks connected with farm work. Neither does it make a man quick and alert. An improvement of one of the first principles of a good physique. Tense, tight, and awkward movements are the result of physical culture. They are the result of a poor physique. The farmer is the man who does the greatest amount of physical labor. But the truth is that farm work does not tend to grace or perfect development.

Lesson XI to be continued.

REMEMBER Peru-na

When You Call At Your Drug Store

Mr. Robert H. Norris, No. 1333 Henry St., North Berkeley, Cal., writes: "We have tried any other medicine but Peru-na and our home since we have been cured. I suffered with kidney and bladder trouble, but two months treatment with Peru-na made me a well and strong man. My wife felt weak and was easily tired and was also troubled with various pains, but since she took Peru-na she is well and strong."

ARMISTICE

According to the constitutionalists in Mexico, the United States and General Huerta merely called upon to cease active operations pending further mediation proposals. Consideration of the constitutionalists position. It was stated, probably will be involved in the next step to be taken after an armistice has been agreed to by the principals to the present difficulties.

Under the armistice, in connection with international proceedings neither the Huerta government nor the United States would pause in preparations for war. Plans for possible conflict would proceed but the armistice would prevent active hostilities in the field and any extension of military movement by either side. In Mexico people would be permitted to go where they pleased unmolested. It would simply establish a truce.

Attention was called here to the statement issued by President Wilson in accepting the good offices of the South American governments in which he expressed the hope that no untoward occurrence should develop pending negotiations that might upset hopes for peace. An armistice strictly adhered to would prevent such a development.

Officials expressed keen interest in unofficial reports from Berlin that the mediators had asked of European powers to use influence on President Wilson that would prevent this government making conditions of settlement as a condition progresses which would make possible the success of the effort to bring about peace. At the state department it was stated that nothing was known of this action on the part of the envoys.

The proposal for an armistice was communicated to President Wilson from the state department by telephone. Though no announcement has been made it was authoritatively learned that this government would accept the conditions provided assurances are given that in addition to a halt in military operations, there would be no civil uprisings against American citizens or other "unlawful" incidents which might prevent peace.

A late report from Consul Canada at Vera Cruz says the refugees arriving from Cordoba told pitiful tales of hardships inflicted upon them during their imprisonment there. After their arrest they were herded together like cattle and marched through the public streets to a small and unsanitary jail. Meanwhile angry mobs on all sides threw decayed fruit, stones and other missiles at them and threatened their lives. Arriving at the jail, they were crowded into small rooms, 40 prisoners being in the same apartment.

FUNSTON'S TROOPS LANDING TODAY

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, April 29.—While scores of Americans continued their hurried exodus from Mexico and Bri. Gen. Funston's troops were landing to complete the occupation of Vera Cruz today the representatives of three South American republics gathered in the quiet library of the Argentine legation in Washington's fashionable residential section and named the preliminaries of their attempt to steer the Mexican crisis into ways of peace. No intimation of the tenor of the program had been revealed. There was no indication of when proposals would be submitted to Huerta or the government, but it was required before the old be made. Whether the offices would proceed of actual mediation or of negotiations was a speculative matter. The army today would meet an examination in their movements, and by that time of the representatives of the American republics, representatives, and gathering all the South American nations with the aim of middle ground and peace.

Power of Water.
The power of water is enormous. A tiny jet of water descending 1,000 feet traveling at the rate of 100 yards a second cannot be cut into with an ax or a sword. It will fracture the best blades of Toledo steel. It will hurl an ax through an oak plank. It is quite impossible for a man to cut this stream through. To compute the power of falling water it is necessary to multiply the volume of flowing water in cubic feet per minute by its weight, 62.5 pounds, and this product by the vertical height of the fall in feet and divide by 33,000, the number of foot pounds representing one horsepower for one minute. A stream of water when flowing over a weir five feet in length by one foot in depth at the rate of one foot a second and having a fall of twenty feet develops eleven horsepower.

A Lively Corpse.

Joseph G. Green, a member of the United States diplomatic corps, tells a story of Rumsen, the German scientist, who is often mistaken for his cousin, Charles Rumsen.

"When he was traveling in England he met a lady who asked him 'Have you read your book "The Corpse"?'

"No, madame," he said. "I regret that I have not. I have not read my book."—Detroit Free Press.

LITTLE DISCUSSIONS OF LOVE AND MARRIAGE

BY BARBARA BOYD

Boys and Housekeeping.

"I would like to go with you," said the Woman-From-Across-the-Street, "but my son will be home for supper; so I shall have to stay to get him something to eat. Oh, this everlasting eating!"

"But can't your son get his own supper," expostulated the Neighbor.

"Gracious goodness, no! He wouldn't know how to do the first thing about it."

"It's high time, then, that he learned," replied the Neighbor, spiritedly. "If you don't go for any other reason, I say go, that your son may get his first lesson in housekeeping."

"Humph!" sighed the Woman-From-Across-the-Street, "that shows how much you know about it. He'd probably fling out of the house and go off somewhere to get his supper, goodness knows where. No. I don't intend that my boy shall find his mother neglectful. If I have nothing else to remember, I shall know I always did my duty by my children."

The Neighbor regarded her a bit curiously. Then her eyes twinkled. "I took dinner last night," she said, "with a friend of mine who has two boys, one about ten and the other twelve or thirteen. It was the maid's day out and those boys got dinner. It was a corking good dinner, too, and they were as proud as Punch of it. They do it every week, it seems, when the maid is off. My friend and I sat in the living room and talked. She never went near the kitchen. Once in a while, one or the other of the boys would come in and ask her a question about cooking something. She gave them a small amount for getting the meal and washing the dishes, which very well pleases them. But her object, of course, is that they shall learn the simpler tasks of housekeeping. One week, one cooks and the other washes dishes, and the next week they reverse. They also know how to make beds, and to sweep, and dust."

"That sort of thing makes a boy sissy," sniffed the Woman-From-Across-the-Street.

"Not a bit of it," replied the Neighbor. "You can't find two manner little fellows than they are. They are at the head of their classes at school. One of them won a prize as runner in some of the school races, and the other for the high jump, or whatever you call such things. They are good tennis players for their age, and they help their father about the garden and lawn. But she is the sort of woman who believes in all-round development for both men and women. And she says that sometimes, if your son, for instance, could get his own supper, it wouldn't do him any harm, and it would mean that you could have a pleasant holiday."

"Even if he could do it, I don't believe he would want to do it," sighed the Woman-From-Across-the-Street.

"That makes another point, I think, in favor of this all-round development. The wider a person's training, the broader his outlook on life. When a boy can do a thing, and the need for doing it is shown him, I do not think he is apt to be so selfish or so narrow as is the boy who is shut within certain limitations. Your boy can't get his supper, so he thinks it is a hardship to be asked to do a thing for which he is unfitted. But if it were as easy for him to get his supper as to eat it, I think he would be glad to get it, in order that you might have a little pleasure. And if he did refuse to get it, or was disinclined, I do not think anyone would need to show him his selfishness."

"I guess it is too late to do anything with my son now," sighed the Woman-From-Across-the-Street, as she rose to go.

"I am not so sure," replied the Neighbor, brightly. "The good in a person is always there. And if you make an appeal to it, very unexpectedly it may respond."

A New Story

Instead of meat, hot biscuits, griddle cakes, white bread, etc., for breakfast, try some fruit, a dish of Grape-Nuts and cream, a soft boiled egg, and a hot cup of Postum.

After a week or two on such a diet nature will then tell you a new story of comfort.

Grape-Nuts contains all the nourishment of wheat and barley in crisp, appetizing form. It is so dextrinized by long baking as to be promptly digested and transformed into health and energy for body and brain.

Thousands, wise through experience, know the advantages of carefully selected food and regularly.

SPRING FISHING AT BUCKEYE LAKE EXCELLENT SPORT

Spring fishing at Buckeye Lake has never been better than it has this season and thousands have been taken from the waters. It is not an uncommon sight to see fishermen going through the park with strings dragging on the ground and in some cases fish strung from a pole carried on the shoulders of two men.

Bass fishing is indulged in by the more expert anglers and some remarkable catches have been made. Col. W. C. Wells and Jack Hoffman are close competitors for first honors with Wm. H. Broome also in the running and a claimant for the first position. Old fishermen claim however that Mr. Broome has much the best of it as his frequent visits at the lake, his continual haunting of the bass retreats have given him an inside knowledge of their habits, their feeding grounds and in fact little intricacies that assist him materially in adding to the length and weight of his strings. Several of the old fishermen at the lake claim that Mr. Broome and the black bass are on terms of familiarity and that whenever he goes out on the water the fish can tell the stroke of his oars and follow his boat about waiting for feed which he may throw overboard. It is said they also form a procession and accompany him to the landing whenever he is ready to depart in order that they may bid his goodbye.

Col. Wells and Mr. Hoffman are credited with catching a dozen one day last week a half dozen of which weighed over four pounds apiece. Sunday Mr. Hoffman caught ten splendid specimens. Over a thousand fishermen were on the water Sunday and scores of bass and hundreds of Lake Eries and sun fish were caught.

Tuesday Messrs. Fred Burrill, W. H. Broome, Ed Schaller and James Fitzgerald started out at 4 o'clock and before noon had taken eighteen fine black bass the largest of which tipped the scales at five and a half pounds. The gentlemen are again trying to equal their record.

Tom Tabler caught a fine string Tuesday but that is nothing new for Tom has never comes home empty handed. Dr. L. C. Sparks and J. L. Worth, the well known Pennsylvania ticket agent, had a full basket of fish when they stopped at sundown last evening. It is said Joseph ran second to the Doctor the latter landing the Lake Eries in rapid order.

The closed season for bass begins Friday, May 1 and lasts until May 31 inclusive. Today and tomorrow the lake will swarm with bass fishermen all anxious to make one last catch before the gong sounds for the spawning season.

THE EAGLE SCREAMS IN STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES

London hears it, and to do Glasgow and Edinburgh. In Berlin the sound has become quite familiar, and the refrain has been taken up in Australia, Porto Rico, Honolulu.

Alaska and other places more or less distant. Yes Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes have carried the American spirit in to many of the world's oldest and greatest marts.

For five years this foreign demand for America's best men's clothes has been growing, until to day it has reached such proportion that the eagle cannot be blamed for screaming a bit about it.

Enough Stein-Bloch Clothes are sent and sold abroad to keep our big clothes factory busy. And the total is bounding upward at a cheering rate.

Kings and kings men may no wear them, but they appeal mightily to ordinary mortals the civilized world over. Just one more example of the fact that a thing declared best by the greatest number of American men is wanted pretty much everywhere.

And so it may be said that in its invasion of foreign markets the Stein-Bloch Company has been more than a pathfinder. It has been a patriot.

TEN TONS DIXIE COAL YOURS FOR THE WINNING

How would you like it, if sometime in the early summer your cellar coal bin should be filled up with enough coal to heat your home all next winter? How would you like it if the delivery teams of a hustling coal company would bring to your home ten tons of bright clean coal and, after the coal has been put in your cellar, the driver on the last load would tell you that you didn't owe the coal company a cent because you had won Prize 22 in the Advocate's Booklovers' Contest.

Sounds like rather a good proposition, doesn't it after a cold winter and a troublesome fuel question?

Well, that's what is going to happen to some lucky contestant who wins the Advocate prizes are awarded.

You will notice in the list of prizes that Prize No. 22 doesn't say simply ten tons of COAL, it says ten tons of DIXIE HOCKING.

This is the coal that has made the big hit with hundreds of real users in Newark and vicinity during the past winter and thus the coal that the Advocate specified when it contracted with the Dixie Coal company for Prize 22.

Dixie-Hocking "Great Good Coal" can be bought in Newark of one concern. That concern is the Dixie Coal Company, which is directly connected with the company distributing the famous Dixie mine.

And now some facts are about the coal, Dixie-Hocking. It comes in big chunks from which the slate impurities have been carefully removed. It burns freely and will hold fire longer than most. It makes no clinkers and less than most. It has the backing of hundreds of satisfied users and its friends are all who know.

But again the important thing. The Advocate has been waiting for Dixie-Hocking coal to furnish heat, all winter in the home of the winner of Prize 22 in the Booklovers' Contest.

GOOD NEWS FOR YOU! PAIN DISAPPEARS

Have You Heard About "The Road to Quick Relief"—Better Get Acquainted With Speedway.

There's more joy for you in one bottle of Speedway than in a whole car of spring days. For Speedway does take the aches and pains away.

Speedway is for those tired, stiff joints—for bruises and sprains—for rheumatic limbs that make you wince every time you move.

Linger up with Speedway! Feel frisky and fine by simply applying this magic balm. It feels good when you use it—you feel like a new person afterward.

Putting it on full strength—rubbing gently until the skin glows—is just the thing. For Speedway cannot burn or blister the skin. It's as soothing and pleasant as toilet water. It can't stain the flesh or the daintiest fabric, being a kind and gentle remedy—and just as sure as it is agreeable.

Suppose you go—the first minute or get the chance, to your druggist and buy a bottle of Speedway. Better yet the large size, and use it faithfully—then you will absolutely receive the results promised or the druggist will return your money.

Speedway was discovered and successfully used for years by a good old Scotch physician. Now it is given to the world—ready to prove your "road to quick relief." Try it now.

New Treatment for Hay Fever, Asthma, Catarrh and Head Colds

Vick's Vap-O-Rub Croup and Pneumonia Salve Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption. No Dosing.

When Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve is applied externally, the body warmth releases vapors of Pine Tar, Camphor, Thymol, Menthol, and Eucalyptol. These vapors are inhaled direct to the lungs and air passages where internal medicines cannot go. They loosen the phlegm, open the air passages and stimulate the mucous membrane to throw off the disease germs. For catarrh and head colds melt a little in a spoon and inhale the vapors, also apply well up the nostrils. For asthma and hay fever follow the instructions given above and also rub Vick's well over the spinal column, thus relaxing the nervous tension. Vick's is not a "cure" for these diseases, but it has at least the merit of containing no harmful habit forming drugs, and it is sold by all druggists on thirty days trial. If it fails to relieve in your case the purchase price will be immediately refunded.

For sore throat, tonsillitis, deep colds, and bronchial troubles, apply hot wet towels over the chest and throat to open the pores of the skin. Then rub Vick's well in and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The next morning the phlegm is loosened, head is clear and in addition the absorption of Vick's through the skin has taken out that tightness and soreness. At all dealers—25c, 50c, and $1.00.

SCENE AT NAVY YARD BEFORE WORLD'S GREATEST BATTLESHIP LEAVES FOR MEXICO

This picture was taken at the Brooklyn navy yard just before the giant new battleship New York left for Mexican waters last Sunday. From the mainmast of this vessel flies the flag of Rear Admiral Winslow, commander of the new special service squadron. The New York, which was put in commission only two or three weeks ago, is the world's greatest battleship.

MOVING TIME IS MADE EASIER WITH GLOBE-WERNICKE BOOKCASES

A Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcase is readily portable. It can be easily moved, section by section, with contents intact, from room to room or from house to house. The sectional construction also adapts itself to irregular and awkward nooks, corners and the pleasing plan of a library. Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcases are made in many sizes and finishes to suit all tastes. They are equipped with drawers, shelves, and other accessories, and are available in a wide variety of designs.

Opportunity.
In one of the old Greek cities there stood long ago a statue. Every trace of it has vanished now. But there is still in existence an epigram which gives us an excellent description of it, and as we read the words we can surely discover the lesson which those wise old Greeks meant that the statue should teach to every passerby. The epigram is in the form of a conversation between a traveler and the statue:
"What is thy name, O Statue?"
"I am called Opportunity."
"Who made thee?"
"Lysippus."
"Why art thou upon thy toes?"
"To show that I stay but a moment."
"Why hast thou wings upon thy feet?"
"To show how quickly I pass by."
"But why is thy hair so long on thy forehead?"
"That men may seize me as they meet me."
"Why, then, is thy head so bald behind?"
"To show that when I have once passed I cannot be caught."

Politics in France.
Americans generally know as little about French politics as Frenchmen know about ours. Issues, methods and parties in the two countries are radically different. In France parties are so many in number and so small in membership that they are usually designated as groups rather than as parties. It is always necessary to combine the forces of three or more of them to constitute a majority in the chamber of deputies, and that can be done only by giving each group a representation in the cabinet. The parliamentary system of France resembles that of Great Britain in this: When the chamber gives a vote adverse to the ministry, the ministry resigns. But that means only that a new alliance is formed that includes groups other than those represented in the retiring ministry. As a consequence it usually happens that some members of the defeated cabinet are retained in the cabinet that succeeds it—YOUTH'S COMPANION.

Napoleon and the Balloon.
When Napoleon was a young cadet he went on one occasion to witness the ascent of a balloon in the Champs de Mars. He entered, unperceived, the enclosure which contained the balloon, which was then very nearly full and about to ascend, and requested the aeronaut to allow him to enter the car. The request, however, was refused, the reason given being that the feelings of the boy might embarrass the aeronaut.
"Though I am young, I fear neither the powers of earth nor of the air," Bonaparte is reported to have exclaimed.
On being requested to retire, the little cadet, enraged at the refusal, drew his sword and, slitting the balloon in several places, destroyed the apparatus which had been constructed with infinite labor and ingenuity.
Such was Napoleon's first and last attempt to ascend in a balloon.

CHICAGO PHYSICIAN'S EPIGRAMS ON CLEANLINESS.

During the preparations for the cleanup campaign in Chicago Dr. George B. Young, health commissioner of the city, issued from his department a bulletin containing the following:
"Cleanliness is the keystone in the arch of life."
"To measure the health security of a neighborhood take a look at its back yards and its alleys. Shun a dirty neighborhood."
"Some people seem to think that alleys are maintained as places where they may indiscriminately deposit their wastes and filth. Get that notion out of your head."
"The least desirable citizen is the habitually dirty citizen. For such the ducking stool should be revived."
"A clean city is a plagueless city."
"Health is cleanliness."
"Cleanliness begins at home."
"First aids to cleanliness: Disposition, elbow grease, soap, shovel, rake, broom."

CLEANUP TIME.
SWEEP your sidewalks, sister women. Sweep them hard and sweep them well.
On the thought of civic beauty Ever let your efforts dwell. Let your stretch of pure pavement All admiring passers greet, And, oh, do not throw, dear sisters, Scraps of paper in the street.
BE ye careful, men and brothers, That your path be without trail; Cast not your garbage far from you, And for matches do not fail. Glowing logs of them to smother, Lest a fire they become; Also do not kick the ads. off In the portal of your home.
INTO the jaws of junk cans. And like hungry monsters there On the job, throw quick your rubbish; Let not light from his duty scare. Obnoxious no man or maiden Who is right of way entreat; With a hose remember drenched for Spotted street. —Baltimore American.

Adhesive Eggs of Fishes.
Among the fishes which produce adhesive eggs are the little black head minnow (Pimephales promelas) and the goldfish. The male blackhead deposits the fecundated eggs singly upon the under side of leaves of water plants and watches them unceasingly until hatched. The eggs of the goldfish are deposited singly upon the weeds and mosses in a similar manner by the male fish. The eggs of the yellow perch are held together in narrow strips or ribbons of a glutinous character. Adhesive eggs of other species, as the black bass, sunfish, catfishes, etc., are deposited in masses in shallow nests or depressions on the bottom, and still other species deposit their spawn in variously shaped adhesive masses upon water plants, roots and submerged objects.

Beats the Carpenter's Record.
The discovery of a carpenter whose father, grandfather and great-grandfather practiced the same craft has been commented upon in several newspapers and at Lamberhurst, in Kent, there is a family who have been innkeepers for four centuries. In countries where the caste system prevails such a record would be thought utterly insignificant. Grant Duff notes in his diary the answer made by a punkah puller in Madras to an English lady who suggested that he might improve his position. "Memsahib, my father pulled a punkah, my grandfather pulled a punkah, all my ancestors for 4,000,000 ages pulled punkahs, and before that the god who founded our caste pulled a punkah for Vishnu."—London Chronicle.

We waste lots o' time in this world tryin' t' figure out what somebody else is worth. A boy thinks his father is a wonderful feller for a few years, then he switches t' his mother.

CLEANER CITY UP TO WOMEN

By MRS. E. R. HEWITT,
President of Women's Municipal League,
New York city.

The women who don't meet their own little responsibilities are often the very ones who are on the lookout for bigger ones.

It's a bore to see that our own ash cans are of the right size, and it's so much more interesting to bustle about and make the public conscious of its responsibility about something.

We women of the better class are the worst offenders, because we know what we ought to do, and we don't do it. Somehow we feel outside of the law. The poor are made to feel its restrictions much more sharply.

Cleanliness is an instinct with women that has survived in spite of the fact that we are all fundamentally lazy and many are untidy. It has survived, I think, because it makes for health. I don't blame the men for being untidy, because it isn't their fault. We haven't brought them up properly, and nature didn't make them so to begin with. We haven't been stern enough with them. For one thing, we don't make them ashamed to look us in the eye when they come into the house just after throwing a clear away in the street before entering. We don't object to their lazy ways so long as they don't bring the stumps in with them. There you have the root of the whole matter—we don't, any of us, feel our own responsibility in the little things that go to make our streets dirty, our city a bad example of municipal sanitation.

You can't legislate virtue and cleanliness into people, but just now we are mad on the subject of making laws and quite indifferent to enforcing them. We are not law abiding citizens; we are chronic breakers of the law. We adore the order that we find in European cities and wonder why we can't have it here. That order is imposed from authority above; here it must come from within if it comes at all. If we don't like that kind of self government we may go and live elsewhere, but while we are here we must abide by our self made rules if we would have order and good health. Enforcement of the rules of sanitation lies with the woman at the head of the house.

The Woman's Municipal League is making propaganda for a cleaner city by disseminating information about the rules and regulations which we would follow if we tried to be law abiding citizens. It is divided into sections, each of which is captained and organized like a separate county in a state and through which the work is being done. One of the most recent activities of the league was the measuring of ash cans, which revealed a very distressing state of affairs—to wit, that the greater number were oversized and only imposed upon the city's ash can dumper a harder task than his should be.

SPREADING GOSPEL OF CLEANLINESS.

The scope of cleanup day in New York city is being widened. A special hygienic program for schoolboy athletes prominent in cleaning up the town has been arranged as follows:

Go to bed at 8 o'clock after a thorough wash and a cold splash over chest and trunk. Scrub teeth and gums well. Have clothes and books ready for the morning.

Open bedroom windows at top and bottom.

Get up not a minute later than 7 o'clock. Go through a two minute drill and hygienic exercises. Clean face and neck and scrub hands. Finish up with a big cold splash and hard rub all over. See that feet and legs are clean and rub them hard to get them into condition. Brush teeth and gums thoroughly.

Breakfast and all meals: No coffee, no tea. Drink milk a little at a time. Chew all food to a pulp. Ask your teacher what foods to avoid. No smoking.

Before school lock yourself over.

Am I clean from head to toe? Are all my clothes clean and in order down to the skin? Do I stand up like an athlete?

GREAT ENTHUSIASM AT CHARLESTON NAVY YARD AS BATTLESHIP LEAVES FOR MEXICO

These are days of great activity and excitement at Uncle Sam's navy yards. Not since the days of the Spanish war has so much enthusiasm been displayed by the people as war time scenes are enacted. In towns where there are navy yards the enthusiasm has been greatest. This picture was taken a few days ago at Charleston, Mass., when the battleship Nebraska and other fighting craft of the Third Division left the Charleston navy yard. The decks were literally jammed with those who had hastened there to say God speed to the boys who were going to the front to risk their lives for their nation's honor.

BEN WALLACE, THE HOOSIER CIRCUS MAN

The brisk and bustling person who predominates in the stir and activity, hurry and excitement, at the main entrance of the circus, is the general manager.

He answers questions, nummable and all embracing, settles all disputes as to admission, conveys advice, makes suggestions, gives orders, sends lieutenants all over the show grounds with instructions, sees to it that the crowd gets in safely, and is in general in active charge of the "front door."

His is a very important department of circus life, requiring peculiar natural talents, wide experience, correct knowledge of civic affairs and laws in general. The grave responsibilities of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus rest upon the shoulders of Col. B. E. Wallace, the owner and manager.

Col. Wallace is the first man off the cars in the morning and his day's work generally ends when all of his comrades are sleeping with the peace and vigor perfect health and a clear conscience affords. No task is too small or menial for Col. Wallace to perform. For half a century he has been a showman and through his long years of perseverance and honesty he has amassed a fortune of ten million dollars. Yet on a bad rainy night it is not an uncommon sight to see him working and wrestling in the mud up to his knees, lifting and struggling with the "razzlebacks" who draw a dollar each day. This wizard circus man knows most of the 1,000 employees by the first name and there is none of them who would hesitate to do some favor.

Col. Wallace generally eats in the tent which houses the executive staff, but it is no uncommon sight to see him eating next to a humble workman when in a hurry. In all the world of tented life the world has never seen the equal of "Uncle Ben" Wallace, the Hoosier Circus man, and the statement is correct. The big show will come to Newark, Thursday, April 30, for performance at 2 and 8 p.m., and a parade at 10 o'clock.

GIVE TOWN ITS ANNUAL SHAMPOO!

Almost every city and town in the country is getting ready for its annual bath, its grand municipal shampoo and sand-papering. It is up to this town to get ready. Everybody should lend a hand.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take
Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

$82.00 THORNHILL WAGON BOOKLOVERS' CONTEST PRIZE

The best-known materials—the labor of master workmen—the aid of the most ingenious modern machinery—have been employed to make the Thornhill wagon.

The wheels are made with excessive care. For the spokes the manufacturers use the finest hickory—machine driven to insure the right dish. The hubs are of oak, thoroughly seasoned and banded with double reinforced sash iron.

The bolsters are of the best white oak. They have an iron plate at top and bottom, riveted through and through, multiplying their strength.

The "Thornhill" has a mailable front board plate that is braced to front board plate that is braced to the house at all points. This is an exclusive "Thornhill" feature. It prevents the gears from ever getting out of line and causing hard pulling.

"Thornhill" wagons are equipped with long sleeve mailable—non-breaking—bolsters that insure light running and outlast any other skin. Each shoe is fitted to its axle with a Defiance machine—infinitely accurate. This machine insures the

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and thickness to hair when faded, streaked or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

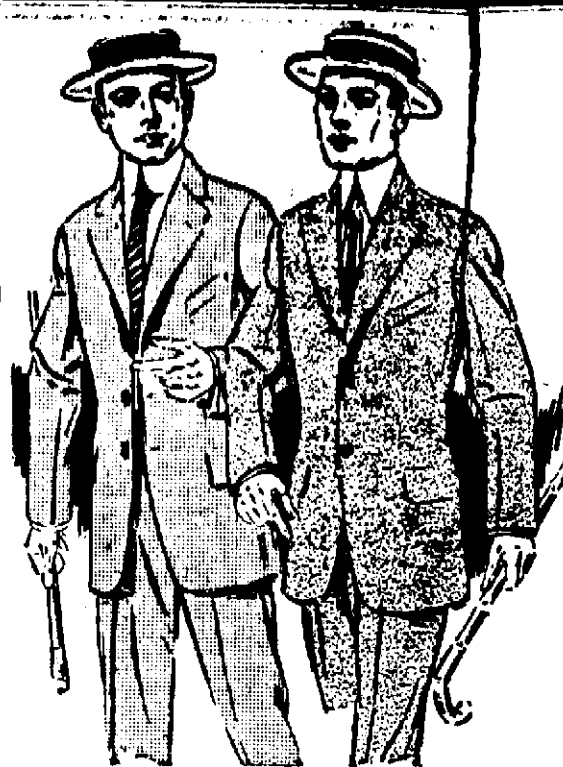

You can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes lustrously dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. Agents, Hall's Drug Store.

DELIGHTFUL DERMA VIVA THE IDEAL POWDER

Will make the skin as white and beautiful as a babe's. Is absolutely invisible. If your hands, arms or neck are red, brown, dark or streaked, try it once and note the wonderful improvement. A BIG MODERN WALL PAPER DEP'T ADDED TO OUR NEWARK PAINT STORE

Ladies and Gentlemen of Newark
this is really an event worth noticing.

Up to this season, we have confined ourselves to handling paints and the things painters use.

The demand for us to carry wall paper has been insistent.

We have at last yielded. We never do anything by halves, so you just ought to see what we are showing. Nothing like it in all Newark.

You WILL come and see it, won't you? Regardless of whether you are in the market for paper or not, COME.

It is a display of endless diversity. All styles, strictly the latest. Nothing held over from last year.

And the prices; well, you can go almost as low or as high as you like. MONEY'S WORTH FOR EVERYBODY is the keynote here.

We shall be on the lookout for you.

PREACHER IS IDENTIFIED BY BROTHER

(Associated Press Telegram)

Cleveland, April 29.—It was decided today that the body identified yesterday as that of the Rev. Louis Palmont, missing Westville, Ill., temperance worker, would not be removed to Canton, O., for burial until fall on account of state health regulations.

The body when found had both legs and one arm broken and one hand scarred. The lack of other injuries and the fact that the body lay in a peculiar position when found tend to indicate that death was caused by foul play rather than by a train.

Positive identification was made by Palmont's brothers.

Rev. Palmont was a resident of Cincinnati. He had been working in local option elections in Illinois and his last trip was for the purpose of obtaining data for a magazine article on the subject.

GIVE BOYS OPPORTUNITY TO TILL SOIL

SUPERINTENDENT WILSON HAWKINS PROPOSES A GOOD VACATION PLAN.

People Asked to Read Suggestion and Tell Mr. Hawkins What They Think of It.

After twenty years experience in educational work, the greater part of which has been spent in city school systems, I am convinced that one of the chief defects of our city systems of education, is their failure to provide productive employment to the large number of boys over fourteen years of age during the vacation period.

I wish that there might be some sort of vocational work offered to every boy who desires employment during the summer months, and of such nature as to offer a reasonable return to the boy in dollars and cents.

Before the middle of June each year the schools close, and hundreds of high school and grammar school boys are given back by the schools to the community. A few of these may find employment in the stores or factories or at their homes, but the vast majority will be idle, and idleness is not without its harmful rewards. Is there any way by which this may be avoided? It is the writer's judgment that there is nothing so valuable to a boy or girl as to be taught the dignity of labor, both mental and physical. This is the reason that manual training, sewing, cooking, and commercial subjects, have been added to the courses of study, but even these do not solve the problem of "What shall we do with the city boy during vacation periods?"

Many cities are trying to solve this problem. Some advocate that the schools continue in session throughout the twelve months; others are establishing vocational guidance and employment bureaus; and some have established agricultural courses in the high school, which give theoretical knowledge through the winter months and actual employment during the vacation months, as well as during the after school hours of the spring months.

It is this latter plan that I wish to bring to the attention of the thoughtful men and women of affairs in this city. Licking County is a distinctly agricultural county. Newark is situated almost in the center of the state. Newark has a high school of over six hundred students almost half of whom are boys. We know that agriculture is one of the best liberal studies even for doctors, lawyers, ministers and merchants; a very large part of our city population is coming to take keen interest in agricultural questions; the state government is encouraging it in its laws; many city boys are the direct descendants of an ancestry who come from the farm, and have a natural liking for the soil; we never can wholly separate our interests from the soil, the plants and animals, upon which our prosperity as a nation and our very life depends.

—The Suggestion—

If the above statements are true, would it not be a fine thing if this city through its Board of Education and commercial organizations, should arrange to give its boys who desire it an opportunity to work during summer months. The Commercial organizations might furnish the land, the Board of Education might furnish the instructor. Suppose a piece of tillable land of thirty or forty acres was placed at the disposal of the Board of Education for this purpose; that the Board would select for one of its high school instructors a man trained scientifically to give instruction in agriculture; that this instructor would be employed by the year, teaching the theory of agriculture to classes of boys during the fall and winter months, and directing the actual work of these boys during the afternoons of the spring and all day during the summer months. I believe this could be done without increasing the total number of high school teachers, for boys who enter this department would lessen the number in other departments. I believe that fifty or more boys would undertake it each season, and that such a department could grow into an extensive agricultural experimental farm that would finally benefit all Licking County farmers.

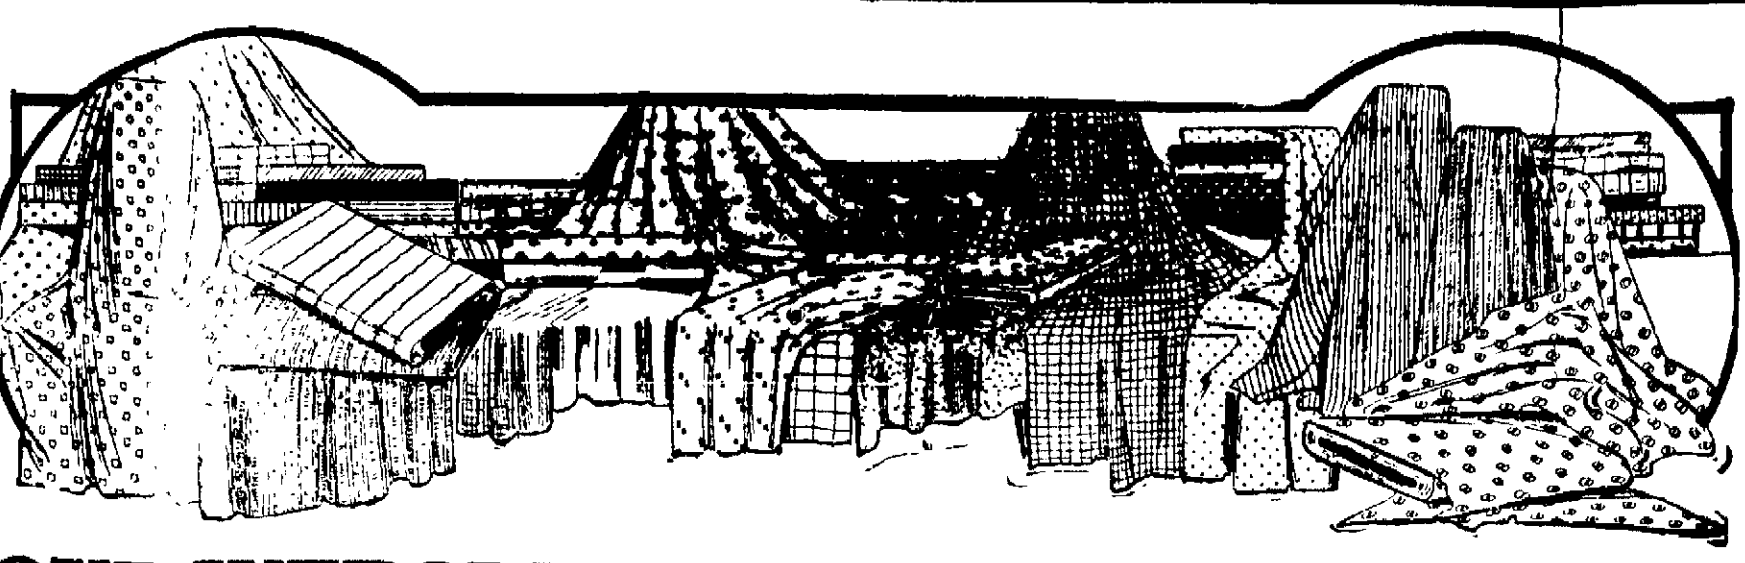

If Newark should undertake this work, it would be practically the first city in the country to do so. Is the suggestion a practical one? Is it worth a trial? I shall be glad to hear the opinions of thinking people whether favorable or unfavorable.

WILSON HAWKINS,
Supt. of Schools.

LAST MEETING OF FORTNIGHTLY CLUB HELD AT GRANVILLE

Special to the Advocate.—The last regular meeting of the Fortnightly club prior to the removal of the sessions in the fall, was held at the home of Mrs. Austin last evening. The general topic for discussion was "Health Problems." Interesting papers were read on the subject by Mrs. Leck, who closed her theme, "The Great White Plague." Modern Prevention of Disease" was very well handled by Mrs. Follett. In concluding the program Mrs. W. I. Pond gave a talk concerning Mental Hygiene. The annual picnic of the club will be an event of May 10.

NEWARK, OHIO.

EAST SIDE OF THE PUBLIC SQUARE

THURSDAY IS CIRCUS DAY IN NEWARK

INDICATIONS ARE FOR FAIR WEATHER TO GREET THE BIG EXHIBITION.

Arriving From Springfield Early in the Morning Two Big Shows Will be Given.

Circus day weather—Fair and cooler, moderate wind.

Tomorrow is circus day and this announcement is over welcome to all the small boys, (and large ones too), for a large radius from the place where it is scheduled to show, which in this case is Hershberger's field, located at the end of Locust street, just north west of the Ohio Electric car barns.

The exhibition that is coming is the famous Hagenbeck-Wallace circus which was made an enviable name for itself in years past in the field of summer amusements.

This organization is said to be "bigger and better" this year than ever before. If this be true, (and we have no occasion to doubt the statement), the circus will be well worth visiting, because it has been to Newark before and given very general satisfaction.

The circus will come to Newark Thursday morning direct from Springfield, arriving at the early hour, over the Pennsylvania road. The unloading will take place between Third and Fourth streets, and will undoubtedly be witnessed by hundreds of citizens young and old.

Arriving at the grounds, breakfast will be served and the tents arranged and the next thing on the bill of course be the parade. The parade is scheduled to leave about 10 o'clock.

The route of the parade is not in but will certainly go around the Square. A tentative route is do to West M. the Square Church, Eleventh, Locust to Fifth, South East to Third around to Third, North to Locust and back to the grounds. The route is not official.

Indications, as reported by the bureau call for fair and cooler weather, which means a big influx to the city. Those living along the grade will prepare for a day and every window are will undoubtedly be early in the morning until it departs at night is the work of men, men of brains skilled in the directing of organized forces, and the work makes its appeal, not alone to the small boy and our unsophisticated rural cousins, but to the intelligent appreciation of every one who can realize the extent of details, and the nicety of their correlation to efficiency of an organization upon a huge scale.

It is educational in its effect upon old and young to watch the work of unloading, the preparation and service of the meals, the erection of a tented city, which springs up like a mushroom, but every detail carefully planned and under the direction of a master mind.

Get up early tomorrow, take the children down to the railroad and let them see the detrainning, then up to the grounds while the stakes are driven and the tents put up, and finally spend the time and money to take them to see one of the performances. It will please them, do you good, and you will feel better for a week.

FIRE FIRST GUN IN NEW YORK'S FLY CAMPAIGN

THE Merchants' Association of New York has just fired its first gun in the spring campaign against flies. It is in the form of a circular as follows:

WARNING! KILL FLIES NOW!

Suggestions For Anticipating the Dangers of the Common House Fly by Destroying the Survivors of Last Year's Crop

FLIES COST THE UNITED STATES ANNUALLY - $350,000,000

THE PRESENT IS THE TIME TO KILL FLIES—BEFORE THE WEATHER BECOMES WARM AND THE "HOLD-OVERS" BEGIN TO PROPAGATE.

One Fly Now Means Innumerable Billions Later On.

THE EXTERMINATION OF THE WINTER FLY IS THE DUTY OF THE HOUSEWIFE AND OF EVERY ONE. DON'T LET ONE ESCAPE. CATCH AND KILL THEM ALL BEFORE SPRING, FOR THE WINTER FLY IS THE PARENT OF SUMMER'S DESTRUCTIVE SWARMS.

THE TIME TO DESTROY THE FLY IS BEFORE IT HAS HAD A CHANCE TO LAY ITS EGGS. NOW IS THE TIME. CAPTURE EVERY ONE OF THE FILTHY LITTLE PESTS YOU CAN FIND.

A SINGLE FLY IS CAPABLE OF DEPOSITING ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY EGGS AT ONE TIME AND OF PRODUCING FIVE OR SIX BATCHES DURING ITS SHORT LIFE.

THE PROGENY OF A SINGLE PAIR OF FLIES, ASSUMING THAT THEY ALL LIVE, IF PRESSED TOGETHER AT THE END OF THE SUMMER, WOULD OCCUPY A SPACE OF OVER FOURTEEN MILLION CUBIC FEET.

THESE FIGURES SHOW THE INCALCULABLE POSSIBILITIES OF A SINGLE FLY AND HOW VITAL IT IS TO DESTROY THE WINTER FLIES.

DON'T THINK BECAUSE THE FLIES DO NOT ANNOY YOU NOW THAT THEY SHOULD NOT BE "SWATTED." NOW IS WHEN "SWATTING" IS MOST EFFECTIVE.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO READ THE WANT ADS EVERY NIGHT
